What we have been learning

Some photos of our learning

In English we have been doing mark making in lots of different ways. The children have explored: paint, pencils, crayons, ink and icing. The children were amazing when making our gingerbread houses, they concentrated so hard when squeezing the icing and were very patient waiting to eat a few sweets at the end! I am very impressed with how they turned out.

In maths we have been doing lots of work learning about shapes and practising our fine motor skills building houses. We have also been using our gingerbread story from English to practice our number skills, counting buttons using our counting finger and putting buttons onto the gingerbread man.

Another busy half term with lots of work but fun too, with messy sensory every week where the children have great fun getting their hands, the walls and adults messy!
