Class Name: Pendennis Term : Spring 1 2022 Theme: What's on our plate?

What we have been learning:

Some photos of our learning

Hello Everyone,

This half term we have been thinking about where food comes from as our theme is - What's on our plate? We have been listening to and engaging in activities linked to a book called The Giant Jam Sandwich. In English on Mondays, we have been following instructions to make our own bread and then cooking it in the afternoon, before making our own jam sandwiches. Also, we have used bread dough to make hand sculptures as part of our art topic on sculptures. In science we have been experimenting with yeast as well as looking at what food grows above ground and what grows below and what foods different animals give us.

In English the rest of the week we have been focusing on sequencing and creating and writing sentences using doing words 'verbs'. In Maths we have been practicing our number skills and on a Friday afternoon our fine and gross motor skills.

In PSHE this term we have enjoyed playing turn taking games and thinking about what we like and don't like. This moved onto trying something different and how it felt to think about the fact that we were doing something different. Window cleaning was one of our new activities and it was enjoyed by all.

Have a good half term break,

The Pendennis Team.
